Operation Nativity by Jenny Pearson

This is a fantasy story that features the Nativity. It is written by Jenny Pearson and has won the Laugh Out Loud book awards. It continuously draws me in with its hilarious characters and unexpected twists. It is about a large family putting on a nativity while the main character (and his sister) try to secretly fix Angel Gabriel's MASSIVE mistake. Want an adventure story that will make YOU laugh out loud? Read this book. It is perfect for anyone who loves Christmas. —By Rosie

Not My Fault by Cath Howe

I have really enjoyed reading this book! It focuses on two sisters—Maya and Rose. It shows forgiveness and love, which are some of our school values. I highly recommend this book for anyone who enjoys a bit of family drama.

A Different Sort of Normal by Abigail Balfe

This is an amazing book as it shows people who are autistic, how to be themselves. However, this book can be for everyone because it shows you that you are not alone. This book encourages young people not to feel left out and be more inclusive. This book can soothe you and make you feel a little less lonely. I would say that this book is for the ones who feel like they don't belong, like they don't fit.

Being Miss Nobody by Tamsin Winter

This is an interesting book; it is about a young girl who has no voice and can't speak out. She has a hard time at school and doesn't know what to do. This book encourages people to reach out and I definitely recommend this book for Year 5 and 6.

Harry Potter—Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them by J.K Rowling

This book is very interesting and draws you in like a child smelling chocolate. It is all about the beasts that are mentioned in the famous Harry Potter series and explains more about them. It is fantastic for fantasy lovers and I would recommend this book for Year 5 and 6.
